

FIRST STEPS IN THE FIGHT

Completion Of Filing Of Nomination Papers Gives The Battle Definite Form.

DEMOCRATS DON'T FIGURE GREATLY

Davidson Has No Slate, Although Lenroot And His Followers Have One Nicely Arranged--

General Gossip.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Madison, Wis., Aug. 7.—The Wisconsin primary election campaign has assumed definite form with the close of the filing of preliminary petitions of candidates. In the republican party there are two complete slates and a number of go-it-alone candidates. The only contest in the democratic party is for the gubernatorial nomination, each opposing candidate having a running mate for the nomination for lieutenant governor. Senator Ernest Merton of Waukesha seeks the nomination for governor on the democratic ticket and with him is running John O'Meara of Milwaukee for lieutenant governor. John A. Aylward of Madison is opposing Senator Merton for the head of the minority party ticket and has a partner in Michael Blenski of Milwaukee, candidate for lieutenant governor. For the other four places on the democratic state ticket there is no rivalry. Clarence J. Noel of Marinette will be nominated for secretary of state, Andrew Jensen of Edgerton for state treasurer, Martin L. Lueck of Janesville for attorney general and Henry J. Neuens of Shawano for commissioner of insurance. The social democrats and prohibitionists each have a ticket in the field, the former being headed by William R. Gaylord of Milwaukee, and the latter by Rev. E. L. Eaton of Madison for governor.

The Big Fight. The big fight in the primaries will be in the republican party. Senator R. M. La Follette is making a strenuous fight to secure the nomination of his slate of candidates in order to maintain his prestige as the supreme leader of Wisconsin republican politics. His slate is as follows: L. E. Lenroot of Superior for governor, John Strang of Oshkosh for lieutenant governor, Walter L. Houser of Mondovi for secretary of state, A. H. Dahl of Westby for treasurer, C. A. McGee of Milwaukee for attorney general and George E. Beedle of Embarras for commissioner of insurance.

While Governor Davidson's slate is not so definitely made up as is that of the "United States" senator, there is reason to believe that the supporters of the present governor are allied to the following set of candidates:

SOUTH CAROLINA HAS FARMERS' INSTITUTE

Four Days' Meeting For Agriculturalists Begins at Columbia this Morning.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Columbia, S. C., Aug. 7.—There was a large and representative attendance at Clemson college today at the opening of the four days' meeting of the South Carolina State Farmers' Institute. The feature of the initial session this afternoon was an address by Col. R. B. Watson, who spoke of the importance of the south producing its own meat. Hon. Harvie Jordan, president of the South-Carolina Growers' association, is slated to speak before the institution this evening. The agricultural resources and possibilities of the south in every phase will be discussed during the succeeding days of the convention. The large attendance, the prominence of the speakers and the wide range of topics slated for discussion combine to give promise of a highly profitable meeting.

EASY FOR RHODES TO BE NOMINATED

Thirteen Missouri Districts Decide That Rhodes Deserves Another Term.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] St. Louis, Mo., Aug. 7.—Congressman Marion B. Rhodes was nominated for another term by the republicans of the Thirteenth district in convention at Piedmont today. There was no opposition.

FIVE PEOPLE ARE ON LAKE ONTARIO TODAY

Launch With Party on Board Adrift on the Lake and Lost Somewhere Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Wolcott, N. Y., Aug. 7.—William Dickey and two men and two women, names unknown, are adrift somewhere in Lake Ontario in Dickey's gasoline launch. Sunday night the launch was in distress and was spoken of by two men in a canoe and asked for aid. Assistance was sent quickly from the shore but the launch could not be found.

James O. Davidson of Soldiers Grove for governor. State Chairman W. D. Connor of Marshfield for lieutenant governor. Senator James A. Fear of Hudson for secretary of state. Railroad Commissioner John W. Thomas of Chippewa Falls for treasurer. Frank L. Gilbert of Madison for attorney general, and Thomas M. Purcell of Madison for commissioner of insurance. Besides these candidates there are a number who are running outside of any slate auspices. There are those seeking the nomination for state treasurer. John J. Kempf of Milwaukee, the present incumbent, who was removed from office by Governor La Follette and who later was reelected for his second term, has a strong following for a third nomination and looks particularly strong in view of the division among the factions embraced in the slates. Seeking this nomination there are also Julius Howland of Stanley and Henry James of Dodgeville. For attorney general Wallace Ingalls of Racine is making a canvass. He is the only "progressive" stalwart in the campaign this summer, and on account of the division in the half-breed ranks he may land the nomination.

Lenroot's Plans. It is perhaps hardly fair to charge that the candidates mentioned above as on the Davidson slate really comprise a "slate." That term is certainly correct as applied to those under the Lenroot group, for it is generally known in this state that this group was figured out first by Senator La Follette and definitely determined upon at a secret conference in Chicago prior to the adjournment of the recent session of congress. There is unquestionably a "mutualization of interests" agreement between Governor Davidson and Chairman Connor, but the other candidates under this following came out themselves first and have through the developments of the situation become looked upon as "favored" by the Davidson-Connor combination. The situation is unique and exceedingly interesting. Senator La Follette will in ten days take the stump and make a series of speeches in favor of the Lenroot candidacy and the Davidson slate. He will, doubtless, be forthcoming from the Davidson camp, the firing becoming hotter as the time draws near to the primary election day September 4.

NAVAL DISPLAY FOR THAT EXPOSITION

Jamestown Naval Maneuvers Next Year Promise to be Most Interesting.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.] Norfolk, Va., Aug. 7.—Probably no feature of the approaching Jamestown exposition will be more interesting than the naval display. Already a number of countries have accepted invitations to send fleets to this country during the exposition. There are evidences of a desire of the nations having large navies to make a brilliant display, and therefore they are anxious to find out how many vessels the other nations are going to send. It is stated that Admiral Togo will be in command of the Japanese fleet and that one or more of the noted Japanese vessels that figured in the Russian war will be seen in Hampton Roads next year. Emperor William desires to send a large fleet to the naval gathering. While the French republic likewise desires to send a number of her famous warships. Of course the United States will make a magnificent display, and during the period of the exposition every one of the American warships in the waters of the Atlantic will, at one time or another, be in Hampton Roads.

It has not been the custom heretofore for the democrats of Rhode Island to take the field so early, but this year the active managers of the party believe that additional advantages may be gained by holding early conventions. # ISSUE WARRANTS FOR THE PRESIDENT OF THE BANK

Stensland Of The Milwaukee Avenue Bank, Chicago, Is Being Sought By Police.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Chicago, Aug. 7.—President Paul O. Stensland of the Milwaukee Avenue State bank will probably be arrested as soon as he enters Chicago or can be found. Bank Examiner Jones said today that Stensland surely had a guilty knowledge of the looting of the bank. Detectives are now seeking Cashier Henry W. Hering, the alleged embezzler, and assert they have information to the effect that Hering left for Detroit Saturday night with Canada as his ultimate destination. The superior court today appointed John C. Fetzer receiver for the closed bank and the bill of complaint alleges mismanagement by the officials.

Send Descriptions. The police department today sent broadcast throughout the United States a message giving a description of President Stensland and asking for his arrest. The message follows: "Look out for and arrest for violation of the Illinois state banking law Paul O. Stensland, about 55 years old, 5 feet 9 or 10 inches in height, blue eyes, about 200 hundred pounds in weight. Understand he has shaved his beard and has a smooth face. He is of stout build. He wore when he left Chicago a light suit and a straw hat. He is light complexioned, tending to sandy. He was last heard from at Duluth."

IOWA DEMOCRATS ARE NOW FRAMING THEIR PROJECT

In State Convention Today For Purpose Of Deciding Platform And Nominees.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.] Waterloo, Ia., Aug. 7.—The democratic state convention of Iowa for the nomination of candidates for governor and other state officers, assembled here today and was called to order by D. W. Hamilton of Sigourney as temporary chairman. The initial proceedings indicated that the convention would be a harmonious gathering from its opening to its close.

Bryan Sentiment. A strong Bryan sentiment is manifest, and the resolutions are expected to declare in favor of the Nebraska and the political principles of which he is the chief apostle. The Hering element is numerically weak and is not expected to put up any opposition to the majority sentiment. There are several names mentioned for each nomination from the governorship down and the make-up of the ticket is problematical.

The Candidates. The entire interest in the democratic state convention centers in the nomination for governor. The announcement is made today that Claude Porter of Centerville has consented to be a candidate. Friends of George Ball and John Denison are active and confident the fight will be carried into the convention.

Honor Bryan. The chairman was instructed to send William J. Bryan at Venice a message extending the greeting of the Iowa democratic convention and "best wishes for a safe journey home." A recess was then taken.

Called to Order. The convention was called to order at ten thirty by acting Chairman Miller of Waverly. Daniel Hamilton was made temporary chairman. The caucus this morning for a selection of members of the committees disclosed the fact the conservatives have control. The latter have rallied around ex-Senator Ball for governor and when the convention assembled indications were that there will be more than one ballot necessary to nominate.

Before The Footlights.

For Heart and Home or "Chicago, County, Folks," a beautiful comedy drama, laid in Christian county, Illinois, is the attraction which will bid for patronage, at the Myers Grand tonight. The play has a sweet story told in seven-act scenes and portrays the daily life of a country preacher, a man who prefers a simple country life, the rustic of the leaves, and the chirping of the spar row to a call to the city. There is a pretty little love romance, and an interesting feature of the performance will be the appearance of Tom, Dick, Harry and Patsy, a quartet of acting dogs, especially trained for this production. The dogs are important to the plot of the piece and are said to hold materially in making "For Heart and Home" an attractive theatrical offering.

A Secret

It aids nature a little, that's the only secret about it. We refer to Ayer's Hair Vigor. It feeds the hair, makes the scalp healthy. The hair stops falling out and all dandruff disappears. The result could not be different, for it's the natural way. And it's as splendid dressing, keeping the hair soft and smooth. Why not save what hair you have and get more at the same time? J. C. Ayer & Co., Lowell, Mass.

When one of your customers turns to your advertisement to ascertain what prices you are selling certain things and falls to secure the information, he is disappointed—and he is very apt to feel an interest in the ads of stores in which he does find what he is looking for.

Iowa is having a taste of good old democracy today, with no differences except who is to be nominated.

Janesville today paid what meagre tribute, they could, to their departed brother—the late Evan D. Roberts.

Rock county can not complain of lack of rain. While New York was suffering from heat prostrations, Janesville was being flooded out.

So some of the aldermen secured planks from the Jackson street bridge they expected to pay for, if asked to. Where is the Municipal League now?

Papers throughout the state have copied the query asked recently in these columns: "What are the Koshkonong carp used for?" Yet none of them have attempted to answer it.

The strike has been called off in Russian. Once more the workmen can earn their daily bread honestly and not by looting stores and residences.

Chicago has a bank failure that promises to be more than interesting to the depositors. A million is said to be lost to the working people who deposited in faith of the bank's stability.

The Milwaukee Free Press has heard the whispering from Marinette says the Milwaukee Journal and dare not come out openly for Lenroot. How is that Free Press? Is it true or libelous?

The moment the Senator spoke some of the strong halfbreed papers swallowed Lenroot, hook, bait and all, and the awful sickness it caused has made some of the editors pour forth the most sickening mess of material, that is simply disgusting. When the whistle blew they all went to work.

Thos. S. Nolan, republican candidate for congress from this district, represents no faction but republicanism in its broadest sense. He lives in the district, he seeks to represent, not at Washington until campaign time, and he returns to stop at a hotel for a few weeks, and in his election the farmers, manufacturers and business men would have a representative anxious to watch after their interests.

THE BITTER CONTEST.

From now until the primaries in September the bitterest political fight in Wisconsin politics is on. It is a faction rendering a faction and the rest of the voters looking on in high glee. The republican party has been divided for six years past, decidedly so for the past two years. Now one of these factions has split itself off from the major faction and declared independence. The conservative faction stands by and laughs. Unholy glee is evinced in the situation by the men who have bitterly fought the present junior United States Senator for the past six years. The situation is unique. It is as though Satan was preaching against sin. After extolling the virtues of the primary law, after forcing down their unwilling maws the law itself, the junior United States Senator shows how it is to be worked by a machine—at its first test. Machine politics exist as never before. If the people are to be really free from them aid the men who are fighting them and take a sweeping victory out of seeming defeat. Of the two republican candidates in this field neither of them are conservatives in any sense of the word. Both belong to the faction that for the past six years has controlled the state body politics. James Davidson, however, stands for the independent radical faction that seeks to defeat bossism in Wisconsin as portrayed by La Folletteism. While the Gazette is not and never has been in sympathy with radical measures advocated by the La Follette faction of the two candidates Davidson appears to be the most conservative and safest to tie to. He is a man of the people and stands for the people. Red tape and secretiveness are not in his make-up and he has a hearty welcome for all whether they differ with him politically or not.

THE SENATE SAVED.

With the newspapers of socialist and sensational character the country over portraying Robert M. La Follette as the next presidential possibility, with Chautauqua after Chautauqua announcing that he is the logical candidate for the White House, the New York Sun says: "The Senate Saved."

"The Hon. Robert Marion La Follette has been a member of the United States senate only since Jan. 4, but his presence in that body has already produced excellent results. He announces that a marked change is coming over the other members, who are getting to be more in touch with the people, and are wincing under the fire of criticism and exposure to which they have been subjected. Senator La Follette regards the chamber in which he has a seat as more representative of the people than the house, in which there is absolutely no such thing as a congressman representing the views of his constituents."

PRESS COMMENT.

Or Do Something As Desperate. Milwaukee Journal: If Taft is thrown into the scale Fairbanks will kick the beam.

Openly Advocates Deceit. La Crosse Tribune: Spare the rod, buy no fish. That is not exactly Hoyle, but it is accurate.

Fay Trifling With Fate. Chicago Record-Herald: Fay Templeton has married a Pittsburg millionaire. This is not bravery. It is reckless daring.

"Fondy" Cops Also In Trouble? Fond du Lac Bulletin: Rubber pneumatic clubs will be used by the policemen in settling disputes in the future. Perhaps a little upholstery wouldn't be bad.

Sees In Strike A Possible Boom. Sheboygan Journal: Three hundred Chicago lithographers have gone on strike. If this will do away with the colored comic supplements of the Sunday newspapers it is to be hoped they will stay struck.

The "Coo" Of The Tiger. El Paso Herald: Tammany is making a noise like a coo to Hearst, and Willie is cuddling up to the tiger. Just as if common knowledge didn't show that to be a very dangerous practice.

Only A Night Bird's Cry. Exchange: The party of Milwaukee saloon loungers who went to capture the terrible Dietz were so brave that they left the wounded member of their party in the woods to die and fled, when the cry of a night bird was heard.

Hears Croaking, Is Undimayed. La Crosse Chronicle: Despite the croaking of some rather weather-beaten political prophets we don't take much stock in the theory that Mr. Roosevelt is the only republican who can carry the county against Mr. Bryan in 1908.

Poetic Justice For Baggageman. Rockford Register-Gazette: People who travel must be excused if they chuckle a bit when they read of what happened to a St. Louis baggage man. He handled a suit case so roughly that a revolver therein discharged; the bullet penetrating his leg.

Spoke Pithily While He Spoke. El Paso Herald: Fairbanks unbentled his mouth long enough to remark pithily in regard to the presidential nomination that he long since learned that it was unwise to grab too greedily after green apples. And then dense silence once more enveloped him like a fallen circus tent.

Three Medals For School Work. Racine Journal: It is pleasant to note that our state has received three medals from the St. Louis exposition managers for educational excellence. The first prize was for best work in elementary schools, the second for county training schools and the third for best rural school work.

News "What You Make It." La Crosse Tribune: From the Free Press we learn that Kronsage "put it over the Pastor crowd shamefully in the half million dollar suit. And from the Sentinel we find that Kronsage was a fizzle, memories s and sweat upon the stand. News is evidently "what you make it" in Milwaukee.

Enough To Drive Him Away. Green Bay Gazette: Secretary Shaw was an eye witness to the Cummins victory in Iowa at which time the secretary was publicly hissed. When he retires from his present office he may be expected to decide that New York or some other eastern city offers the best advantages to a man of his large caliber.

Only 10,500 Shy. Evening Wisconsin: Madison's Forty Thousand Club is still 10,500 shy of its self-imposed task. But if it "stand steady" and refuses to adjourn since die, it will win out eventually, as does Milwaukee's weather

LIBERTIES OF PEOPLE CRY FOR IT.

Liberties of People Cry For It. Milwaukee News: Now that he is a United States senator, Mr. La Follette, it seems, has ceased to view with alarm and abhorrence the interference by federal officials in the republic's politics of the state. From henceforth the liberties of the people will depend upon the vigilance of La Follette and his federal appointees.

They'll Stoop Pretty Low. Oshkosh Northwestern: Governor Davidson declares that some of the opponents are trying to bring the Dietz affair into politics for the sake of embarrassing him. Very likely the governor is right about it, for the indications are plentiful that some of his political enemies would stoop to almost anything to check his growing popularity with the voters of the state.

Question Asked Above Is Answered. Fond du Lac Bulletin: The old town woke up with a vengeance Thursday when Officer Ecke struck a drunk he was taking to the police station. Will the council order all hobos and boozers to be presented with a bouquet of American beauty roses and taken to the station in a coach and four, when arrested in the future?

Buffalo Wants No Canal to Sea. Superior Telegram: The Engineering News says that the New York hundred-million-dollar canal should be a ship canal so that boats could run from Chicago and Superior to European ports. Buffalo is much opposed to the ship canal idea, however, because in such case it would not be necessary to break bulk at Buffalo. It would be a good thing for Superior and Chicago, but it cannot be reasonably hoped for by the Erie canal route.

Hoard Is Out for Dudgeon. Madison Journal: "Ex-Gov. W. D. Hoard" in the Jefferson County Union has come out for M. S. Dudgeon of Madison for congress, to succeed the late Hon. H. C. Adams. This means that the east end of this congressional district is likely to throw its support to the young Madison assemblyman. It is splendid for Mr. Dudgeon. Mr. Hoard says that M. S. Dudgeon is best fitted to carry on the important work begun by Mr. Adams.

What Russian Chaos May Do. Exchange: It is a limited view of this narrow little world which thinks that more chaos in Russia could not hurt this nation. While it is true that Americans hold very few Russian securities and still fewer are interested in a business way in the colicky empire, yet half the fortunes of France are invested in the Czar's bonds, and our trade relations are very close with France, both directly and through England. A French panic could hardly help precipitating one in London and one in New York.

Another Reformer Looms Big. Green Bay Gazette: Senator La Follette has a rival in his race for the presidency and one, too, that he has aided in the past and intends to aid still more in the future. Now that Governor Cummins of Iowa has won his fight for renomination his enthusiastic friends, filled with exultation over the victory, have declared that he is the logical candidate for president from the vigorous middle west on an advanced republican platform. The senator should look to his fences before it is too late.

Favors Some Change in Tariff. Marinette Eagle-Star: The victory achieved by Gov. Cummins in Iowa may have been largely due to the superior political skill of the governor's followers, but the fact that Gov. Cummins stood for a revision of the tariff schedules and the opposition stood for standing pat may well have had something to do with the result. There can be no doubt but that there is a widespread idea in the minds of the people that some changes should be made in the tariff and that the schedules as at present arranged are far from perfect. It is generally believed that the steel trust, for instance, is making too large a profit on account of the protection accorded to steel and that the public does not get any benefit therefrom. There must be no infringement of the principles of protection to home industries, but the schedules were not made to be continued unaltered perpetually. They must be adjusted from time to time to meet the changing conditions.

RADICALS INDORSE RUSSIAN STRIKE

JOINT MANIFESTO ISSUED TO THE WHOLE NATION.

LITTLE CAUSE TO REJOICE

Proclamation Declares Dissolution of Duma Crime of Autocratic Power and Points to Revolt as Answer of Country.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 7.—The former deputies composing the Social-Democratic and Labor parties, Polish and Jewish committees and various revolutionary bodies have issued the following joint manifesto:

To the Whole Nation.—Citizens: A fortnight has elapsed since the government dissolved the lower house of parliament. It laughed at the national representation, and set the whole people at defiance. Russia has received this new crime of the autocratic power in sullen silence.

Cite Army and Navy Revolts. The government rejoiced at this victory, but the thunder of guns at Sveaborg and Cronstadt proved this rejoicing to be premature. The army and navy have raised the standard of insurrection against the oppressors of the people. The roar of the guns at Sveaborg and Cronstadt has given the signal for a new pan-Russian attack on the autocracy. A new and decisive struggle for land and liberty has begun. The lessons of the past will not have been in vain.

Say Manifesto Is Deceitful. The imperial manifesto of October 20 proved deceitful, and a "state duma" is without authority and unable to satisfy a single national need. The people see now that they can hope for and expect nothing so long as the state power is in the hands of its enemies. The object is not an unauthorized parliament but a constituted assembly, with full powers elected by universal, equal, direct and secret suffrage. The people must apply themselves Citizens all to whom freedom is dear, we call upon you for a decisive struggle against the government and for land and liberty. We call upon you for a general strike to cast down the imperial government and the authorities depending thereon.

Long live the general strike and the decisive struggle for national power. Unrest at Odessa.

Odessa, Aug. 7.—The troops at Odessa are showing unmistakable signs of unrest and the authorities are taking the most stringent measures to prevent a mutiny. Numerous patrols surround the military camp. No strangers are admitted there and the soldiers are watched incessantly.

Agents of export houses, who are traveling through the country buying up corn, report that the peasants are preparing for widespread disorders after the harvest.

Sixty revolutionary agitators left here Sunday for different villages. A police agent, in whose pocket was found a list of 20 revolutionists whom he had denounced, was killed here Monday.

One hundred and thirty local strikers were banished to remote provinces of the empire.

Exodus from Sevastopol. London, Aug. 7.—According to an Odessa dispatch to a local news agency, steamer arrivals from Sevastopol say that fully 20,000 persons have left the city and the exodus is still in progress.

Admiral Skrydloff, commander of the Black sea fleet, the admiral says is in an awkward dilemma. He is afraid to remove the breechlocks from the fortress guns in case the crews of the warships mutiny and at the same time he distrusts the fortress artillerymen. At the fortress and on the warships double staffs of officers keep watch with cocked revolvers in their hands.

RAILROADS EXTEND G. A. R. TIME

One Day More Allowed Veterans to Reach Encampment City.

Minneapolis, Minn., Aug. 7.—Grand Army encampment committee workers were given a surprise when it was announced that the railroads in the Western Passenger association have extended the time of reduced rate tickets from August 11 to August 10, thus allowing the visitors to reach the city one day earlier than had been expected and materially altering the committee's plans.

The railroads have evidently decided that such big crowds are coming from the territory within their district that they will need more than three days to handle all the extra traffic. For that reason they will begin the sale of cut-rate tickets on Friday, August 10 and continue until Tuesday, August 13.

Falls to Rescue Friend. Chippewa Falls, Wis., Aug. 7.—W. J. Iakstad, a prominent merchant, while asleep, fell from a boat in Pike lake and drowned. His companion, Joseph Harding's clothes were torn to tatters and his body bruised as a result of his effort to save his friend.

Railroad Agent Promoted. Milwaukee, Aug. 7.—Charles Thompson, formerly local freight agent, has been promoted to general agent of the Chicago & Northwestern Railway company in Milwaukee, to succeed S. C. Chennay, who goes to New York as general eastern agent.

His First Shave. When a young man climbs into a barber's chair to get shaved the first time he feels like a barefaced fraud.

LAST RESPECTS TO DR. ROBERTS

METHODIST CHURCH FILLED WITH SORROWING FRIENDS.

IMPOSING FUNERAL CORTEGE

Testified to the High Esteem in Which He Was Held Both as a Citizen and Friend.

There was a brief prayer at the home on Court street this morning and then the funeral cortege made up of the entire fire department with their vehicles, the fire and police patrol gathered in close formation about the funeral car, over fifty members of Oriental Lodge No. 22, Knights of Pythias on foot, and the carriages containing the sorrowing relatives and friends, moved slowly to the Carill Methodist church.

The casket, completely covered with the Easter lilies sent by the Knights of Pythias, the floral pillow from the Ke-No-Shea Hunting club, the wreath of bronze galax-leaves and red-roses and the spray of lilies from the Philomathian society, the large floral star from the fire and police patrol, a floral star and crescent from M. R. Osburn, a floral pillow from Grant U. Fisher, a spray of Rubum lilies from John P. Sweeney, and scores of other offerings from friends to whom the man had been near and dear in life, was borne to the front of the church and very quietly the large auditorium filled.

Then a quartette composed of Geo. Pauls, Mrs. C. L. Clark, Mrs. C. F. Yates, and C. N. Van Kirk broke the silence with a hymn. Rev. J. H. Tippet, read from the Apostle Paul's profound reflection on the days of life and their number. The quartette sang "One Sweetly Solemn Thought." The pastor spoke again, dwelling on the good life which Dr. Evans, Dr. Roberts had made of his life, and the duty incumbent on each man to give a good account of himself in the battle he was destined to fight here on earth rather than to devote too much thought to death, his inevitable end. The address was followed by a prayer in which the sorrowing widow and her daughter were remembered.

The choir sang Tennyson's "Crossing the Bar." The friends moved slowly to and from the front of the church to assist in the last time at their fellow citizen and comrade, the pall-bearers—Governor James Davidson, William Appleby, F. Robinson, of La Crosse, Davis, Jewell, of Whitewater, Grant U. Fisher, and M. R. Osburn—resumed their burden, the mourners including the bereaved father, John M. Roberts of Frankville, the two brothers, David and Louis of Waukegan, Editor H. L. Hoard, of Waukegan, Dr. Clark of Portage, and State Railroad Commissioner John W. Thomas of Chippewa Falls, were assisted to their carriages; the cortege again moved slowly to the railroad depot. As it reached Milwaukee street all business traffic came to a halt and hundreds stopped to gaze and not a few to say in an undertone, "Janesville will miss him."

A special car, attached to the 11:20 train conveyed the remains of the late Dr. E. D. Roberts and his family, and his friends, to Frankville where the interment was to take place this afternoon.

Fred Carl Topp, aged 4 years, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman G. Topp of number 1 Delavan road, died Sunday evening at 9:15, after an illness which lasted but 24 hours. The funeral will be held at the home at 1:30 tomorrow afternoon. The interment will be in the Center cemetery.

William Wallace Strong. The funeral of the late William Wallace Strong was held at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Daves, 161 S. High street, this morning at 9 o'clock. Rev. Davidson of Stoughton officiated and Mrs. A. O. Wilson and Mrs. Will Jeffris rendered the song service. The funeral was attended by the veterans of the Civil War and the Order of Foresters. The bearers were selected from the veterans of the Civil War. The remains were sent to Marshall, Wis. for burial.

RAILROAD MEN HELD THEIR ANNUAL PICNIC

Yesterday was North Fond du Lac day and the fifth annual picnic of the employees of the Northern Wisconsin division of the Chicago & North Western road was held there in observance of the anniversary of the breaking ground for the location of the division headquarters in that city. The picnic grounds were about the office buildings and there were hundreds of railroad men with their wives and children together with friends in attendance. Excursion trains ran from the Green Bay, Oshkosh, Marshfield, Port Atkinson and Janesville, the largest excursion going from this city. It was run in two sections, the first having four coaches and the second, having eight coaches and two cabooses, besides a baggage car filled to the doors. It is estimated that there were 3,000 people on the grounds and there were ample accommodations and plenty to eat and drink for all. The day was spent in games and other amusements, among which was a water fight, which ended in a draw. The only railroad man from this city to get a prize was Master Mechanic E. H. Zickler, who won the first prize in the officials' foot race and brought home with him a fancy brass torch as a prize. Dancing was a feature of the afternoon and evening entertainment in Railroad hall. The large crowd left for home at 7 o'clock. The music for the day was furnished by the Fond du Lac Military band and the Watertown band.

Train Was Late: The train which should have arrived here last evening at 4:45 from Mineral Point, did not get here until 6:55 on account of a washout on the track between Juda and Brookfield. Trains are running over the line on time today.

TRAIN MAN INJURED NEAR MILTON TODAY

Charles Wren Slipped Under Wheels of an Engine—Lost His Toes.

This morning about three o'clock Charles Wren, a brakeman on the St. Paul road, suffered a painful accident in Milton while switching. He went to step on the journal of the engine or the brake beam in the rear, when his foot slipped and he went beneath the wheels. He was picked up in an unconscious condition and when he was examined it was found that the wheel had run over the forward part of the foot, crushing it and tearing the skin back clear to the heel. He was put on the engine and brought to this city where he was met by the ambulance and carried to the Palmer hospital. It was thought as comfortable as possible. Dr. Farnsworth and Palmer. It was made at first that the whole foot was crushed and amputation would be necessary, but Dr. Palmer states that only the toes of the foot have been amputated and the rest of the foot will be saved if possible, but it will take considerable time. Mr. Wren's home is in Darlington.

TWELVE-YEAR-OLD BOY IS DROWNED

LITTLE EDDIE KNIGHT IS MISSED BY HIS COMPANIONS.

HAD ENTIRELY DISAPPEARED

When His Playmates Came Back From Swim Out Into River—Body Was Recovered.

While some of his companions were showing their skill in aquatic matters by swimming to the middle of the Rock river near Swallow Hollow twelve-year-old Eddie Knight, who was paddling around near the shore, entirely disappeared and thus far all hunt for him has been in vain. Eddie could not swim, and his companions left him in the shallow water near the shore. It is believed he slipped off into a deep place and powerless to help himself drowned; his cries for help not being heard by the boys swimming.

Notify Police. Shortly after one the police were notified of the drowning by a small boy who ran all the way from Swallow Hollow, a short distance above the Chautauqua grounds to the end of the car line. Word was also sent to the boy's parents, Mrs. and Mrs. Will Knight who live at 157 Madison street and work of recovering the body was begun. Knight's companions were too frightened to give a clear account of the accident more than to say Eddie was gone when they came back from their swim into the middle of the river and they left him in the shallow water when they started.

Bad Place. At the place where the accident occurred a long sand bar swings out into the river and deep sink holes are found on either side. It is possible that the Knight boy tried to follow his companions and went down in a stepped off on one side of the sand bar.

Body Found. Shortly after three the body was found at short distance from where he was last seen. The remains were brought to the city in Emerson's launch and removed to Ryan's undertaking rooms. It now appears the boy was swept into deep water by a passing steamer.

LATEST METHODS TO BE INSTALLED HERE

Electrical Turn Table Is Being Put at St. Paul Yards.

The new electric turntable which is being installed at the St. Paul roundhouse arrived this morning and is one of the largest of its kind which is built at present. A pile driver crew arrived from Milwaukee yesterday and are today engaged in driving posts in the center of the pile to make a firm foundation for the same. Some three or four yards of cement are yet to be installed. The iron turntable is 75 feet in length and weighs 66,000 pounds and will be a great improvement over the small table used for so many years. While this work is being done the engines will have to be wiped and repaired in the yard but it is thought the work will be completed in about ten days. The cement work for the foundation has been very satisfactorily done by the Minnesota gang under the supervision of C. A. Kennedy. Another one of these tables is to be installed at Madison in the near future.

CHAPTER XXII.

ANTIOCH had grown indifferent to forest fires. They were of almost annual recurrence, and the town had come to expect them each fall. As the Hon. Jeb Burrows remarked with cheerful optimism, voicing a popular belief, "if it was intended Antioch should go that way it would have gone long ago."

But this summer, the drought had been of longer duration than usual. The woods were like tinder, and the inevitable wadding from some careless hunter's gun or the scattered embers from some campfire far up in the northern part of the state had started a conflagration that was licking up miles of timber and moving steadily south behind a vast curtain of smoke that darkened half the state. It was only when the burned out settlers from the north began to straggle in that Antioch awoke to a proper sense of Antioch.

It was then that Antioch sent out its first call for help. It needed fire engines and hose, and it needed them badly, especially the hose for the little reservoir from which the town drew its water supply was almost empty.

Antioch forgot the murder of Ryder. It forgot Roger Oakley, the strike and all lesser affairs. A common danger threatened its homes, perhaps the lives of its citizens.

A score of angry men were stamping up and down the long platform across from the shops or pushing in and out of the ugly little depot, which had taken on years in apparent age and decay in the two days during which no trains had been running.

They were abusing Holt, the railroad and every one connected with it. For the thousandth time they demanded to know where the promised relief train was. It had started from Buckhorn Junction, and if it hadn't started, the reason of the delay.

The harried assistant treasurer answered these questions as best he could.

"Are you going to let the town burn without making a move to save it?" demanded an excited citizen.

"You don't think I am any more anxious to see it go than you are?" retorted Holt angrily.

"Then why don't you try to do something to prevent it?"

"The road's doing all it can, gentlemen."

"That's a whole lot, said Holt helplessly. "Everything is tied up tight."

"You can wire 'em can't you?"

"Yes, I can wire 'em. I have wired."

"Well, where's the relief train, then?"

"It's going to do us a lot of good there, ain't it?"

"They'll send it as soon as they can get together a crew."

"Stir 'em up again, Holt. Tell 'em we got to have that hose and those engines or the town's gone. It's a matter of life and death."

to the north, where the black cloud hung low in the sky. He added: "I have told my wife to keep the young ones in, no matter what happens, but Lord, they will be about as well off on one place as another when it comes to the pinch."

"I suppose so," agreed the doctor. "I am at a loss to know what precautions to take to insure the safety of Mrs. Emory and my daughter."

It was only 4 o'clock, but it was already quite dark in the town, a strange half light that twisted the accustomed shape of things. The air was close, stifling, and the wind, which blew in heavy gusts, was like the breath from a furnace. The somber twilight carried with it a horrible sense of depression. Every sound in nature was still.

Silence reigned supreme. It was the expectant hush of some living thing. The three men stepped out on the platform. Holt and the doctor were still mopping their faces with their limp handkerchiefs. McClintock was fanning himself with his straw hat.

"Those families in the north end should move out of their homes," said the doctor. "If they wait until the fire gets here they will save nothing but what they have on their backs."

"Yes, and the houses ought to come down," added McClintock. "There's where the fire will get its first grip on the town, and then heaven help us!"

"Night came, and so imminent seemed the danger that Antioch was roused to something like activity."

A crowd composed almost exclusively of men gathered early on the square before the courthouse.

"They had by common consent given up all hope that the relief train would be sent from Buckhorn Junction. The light in the sky told them that they were completely cut off from the outside world. The town and the woods immediately adjacent formed an island in the center of an unbroken sea of fire. The ragged red line had crept around to the east, west and south, but the principal danger would be from the north, where the wind drove the flames forward with resistless fury.

To the south and east Billips' Fork intervened as a barrier to the progress of the fire, and on the west was a wide area of cultivated fields.

"At regular intervals waves of light flooded the square as the freshening gusts fanned the conflagration or whirled across the town great patches of black smoke. In the intervals of light a number of dark figures could be seen moving about on the roof of the courthouse. Like the square below, it was crowded with anxious watchers.

The crowd flocked to and fro on the square, restless and excited, and incapable of physical quiet. Then suddenly a voice was raised and made itself heard above the tramp of feet.

"Those houses in the north end must come down!" this voice said.

There was silence and then a many tongued murmur. Each man present knew that the residents of the north end had sworn that they would not sacrifice their homes to the public good. If their homes must go they must prefer to have them burn, for then the insurance companies would have to bear the loss.

"Those houses must come down!" the voice repeated.

It was McClintock who had spoken. "Who's going to pull them down?" another voice asked. "They are ready to fight for them."

"And we ought to be just as ready to fight if it comes to that," answered the master mechanic. "It's for the common good."

The crowd was seized with a noisy agitation. Its pent up feelings found vent in bitter denunciation of the north end. A man—it was the Hon. Jeb Burrows—had mounted the courthouse steps and was vainly endeavoring to make himself heard. He was counseling delay, but no one listened to him. The houses must be torn down whether their owners wanted it or not, McClintock turned up the street.

"Pull 'em!" he shouted, and at least a hundred men fell in behind him, marching two abreast. Here and there as they moved along a man would forsake the line to disappear into his own gate. When he rejoined his neighbors he invariably carried an ax, pick or crowbar.

From the square they turned into Main street and from Main street into the north road, and presently the head of the procession halted before a cluster of small frame houses resting in a hollow to their right.

"These must come down first," said McClintock. "Now, we want no noise, men. We'll pass out their stuff quietly as we can and take it back to the square."

He swung open a gate as the smoke

"Williams keeps a team. A couple of you fellows run around to the barn and hook up."

Just then the front door opened, and Williams himself appeared on the threshold. A dog barked, other doors opened, lights gleamed in a score of windows, and the north end threw off its cloak of silence and darkness.

"Keep quiet and let me do the talking," said McClintock over his shoulder. "Then to the figure in the doorway."

"We have come to help you move, John. I take it you will be wanting to leave here shortly. We'll give you a hand." And the master mechanic pushed through the gate and took a step down the path.

He presented the muzzle of a shotgun.

"Hold on!" cried Williams, swinging out an arm. "I got something to say about that."

There was a sound as of the clicking of a lock, and he presented the muzzle of a shotgun.

"Oh, say," said McClintock gently, "you had better not try to use that! It will only make matters worse. Your house has got to come down. We got to save what we can of the town."

Williams made no answer to this, but McClintock saw him draw the butt of the gun up toward his shoulder.

"The men at his back were perfectly still. They filled the street and, breathing hard, pressed heavily against the picket fence, which bent beneath the weight of their bodies.

"You'd better be reasonable. We are losing precious time," urged McClintock. "In an hour or two this place will be on fire."

"I've got no kick coming if it burns, but it shan't be pulled down."

"Put up your gun, and we'll give you a lift at getting your stuff out."

"No, you won't."

McClintock kept his eyes on the muzzle of the shotgun.

"It ain't the property loss we are thinking of—it's the possible loss of life," he said mildly.

"I'll chance it," retorted Williams briefly.

"Well, we won't."

Williams made no reply. He merely fingered the lock of his gun.

"Put down that gun, John!" commanded McClintock sternly.

At the same moment he reached around and took an ax from the hands of the nearest man.

TELEPHONES IN THE COUNTRY.
Instruments Have Done Much to Relieve Tedium of Farm Life.

The farmer's wife has a new resource. Her lot has been improved in many ways in the last ten years. The "separator" and the creamery have relieved her of the severest toll of the dairy. The rural free delivery brings magazines and newspapers to her door. Lately the telephone has put her within distance of her neighbors. The nearest farm house may be half a mile away, and the village three miles. The lines of poles and the wires, perhaps merely the wire fence, have suddenly drawn her into an intimate relation to both, unknown to her before. To one who has never experienced the solitude of the farm it is hard to realize the joy of the wife and mother at being able to consult a friend about the cut of the baby's coat, the recipe for mince pies or the dose of cough-syrup.

The demand for the telephone in the country is imperative. "Everybody's got one," said the village storekeeper to a city visitor. "Why, there's three families that's being helped by the town, and every one of 'em has got a telephone. Old Mrs. Bearce says she'd rather go without her vitamins than have the telephone taken out!" What a testimony to the desire for human companionship! The gossiping instinct, some cynic will say. But, after all, what is that but the wish to compare notes on the perennially interesting study of human nature—a study as fascinating to the unknown country woman as to the famous "psychologist"—Youth's Companion.

Did the Irishman Go?
A Swede and an Irishman were out walking together when a storm came up. They took refuge under a tree. The tree for about fifteen minutes made a good refuge. Then it began to leak. The cold raindrops began to fall down the Irishman's neck, and he began to complain. "Oh, never mind," said the Swede, "there are plenty of trees. As soon as this one is wet through we'll go under another."

Flower Causes Death.
The London Lancet notices the death of a woman from a scratch on the nose, received while smelling a primula obconica, a variety of primrose originally brought from central China. The Lancet says it is not the first case of the kind.

Too Methodical.
"As for me," said Aunt Clarissa, "I haven't any use for a woman that takes three or four handkerchiefs with her when she goes to see one of these heart interest-plays. She's too business-like and calculating to be the genuine thing."
